| Insegnamenti offerti da UniPV | CFU/ECTS | SSD | Sintesi dei Contenuti |
|-------------------------------|----------|------------|---|
| Artificial intelligence | 5 | ING-INF/05 | Il corso introduce i principi fondamentali della disciplina. È diviso in due parti: la prima parte è un'introduzione alla logica formale classica, proposizionale e di primo ordine, con un focus speciale sugli aspetti del calcolo automatico, mentre la seconda parte è un'introduzione ai principi di base dell'apprendimento automatico. |

|---|---|------------|---|
| Big Data e Modelli Computazionali per il Marketing | 5 | SECS-S/05 | L'insegnamento fornisce gli strumenti analitici per leggere e interpretare rapporti di ricerca e analisi che fanno uso di tecniche computazionali complesse, per interagire con esperti nell'analisi dei big data . |
| Comunicazione verbale e linguaggio dei media | 5 | L-LIN/01 | Gli studenti acquisiranno conoscenze dei principali temi e problemi della semantica e della pragmatica della comunicazione verbale. Gli studenti svilupperanno la capacità di applicare nozioni della linguistica all'analisi critica del linguaggio dei media. |
| Digital Humanities (in italiano) | 5 | ING-INF/05 | Il corso si propone di introdurre le principali metodologie e tecniche che possono essere utilizzate per analizzare i diversi tipi di contenuti culturali presenti nei testi. Al termine del corso, gli studenti saranno in grado di svolgere un'analisi critica dei concetti chiave delle Digital Humanities; utilizzare una serie di strumenti di Digital Humanities; creare nuove modalità di visualizzazione di dati e metadati; esplorare e analizzare testi in modo automatico e semiautomatico;; eseguire automaticamente l'analisi linguistica; creare e analizzare reti di dati. Il corso si baserà sulla presentazione di concetti teorici, una panoramica dei progetti nel campo delle Digital Humanities e attività pratiche. In particolare, includerà un'introduzione alle Digital Humanities; un'introduzione all'elaborazione automatica del linguaggio; un'introduzione alla Network analysis. |
| Economia dello sviluppo e della cooperazione | 5 | SECS-P/02 | Lo scopo del corso è di introdurre gli studenti alla conoscenza del significato e dei problemi legati allo sviluppo. Il programma del corso copre elementi base dell'economia dello sviluppo e l'evoluzione delle strategie di cooperazione internazionale, dal secondo dopoguerra ad oggi. Saranno presentate: i) le principali teorie economiche che spiegano le dinamiche e i divari di sviluppo a livello globale; ii) i modi in cui sviluppo, povertà, diseguaglianze possono essere misurate; iii) il ruolo e l'impatto che le politiche di sviluppo e gli attori della cooperazione internazionale allo sviluppo possono avere nei diversi contesti istituzionali. |
| Il linguaggio della cooperazione | 5 | SECS-P/01 | Il corso offre alcuni spunti di riflessione, attraverso l'analisi delle "parole di cooperazione", sui tanti casi in cui, nella storia e nel presente, un diverso mix di cooperazione e competizione ha cambiato o avrebbe potuto cambiare il corso degli eventi. Il corso sarà strutturato attorno a parole specifiche del mondo della cooperazione, molte delle quali hanno un significato non solo o non prevalentemente economico (a titolo esemplificativo: "credito"; "scambio"; "viaggio"; "bene pubblico globale", ecc.) . Idealmente, ad ogni parola sarà dedicata una lezione tradizionale e un lavoro di approfondimento da parte degli studenti. |
| Introduzione alla storia delle relazioni internazionali: le fonti archivistiche | 5 | SPS/06 | Il corso, in collaborazione con il Comitato per la Pubblicazione dei Documenti Diplomatici Italiani e l'Archivio Diplomatico Italiano (MAECI-Roma), si propone di introdurre gli studenti dell'area umanistica al significato e alle finalità della storia internazionale nel tempo. Il corso si propone di: 1) coinvolgere gli |

| | | | |
|--|---|--------------|--|
| | | | studenti con metodologie e scuole storiografiche nell'ambito della storia internazionale; 2) consentire agli studenti di accedere e valutare fonti archivistiche rilevanti, dalle origini dei libri a colori alla progressiva liberalizzazione dell'accesso del pubblico alle fonti diplomatiche e infine alla loro digitalizzazione; 3) la parte finale del corso sarà dedicata ad accogliere gli studenti nella realtà del lavoro e della ricerca negli archivi diplomatici, come l'Archivio Storico Diplomatico Italiano e altri. Esperti, professionisti e archivisti coinvolgeranno attivamente gli studenti in seminari e laboratori volti a introdurli all'accesso, alla conservazione e alla pubblicazione dei documenti diplomatici. |
| Italian Politics and Society | 5 | SPS/01 | Il corso si propone di introdurre gli studenti alle principali caratteristiche del sistema politico italiano e alle problematiche della società italiana. Al termine del corso lo studente dovrà aver acquisito familiarità con le principali istituzioni politiche, economiche e sociali italiane; con le principali sfide che interessano il sistema politico italiano contemporaneo, l'economia italiana e le relazioni Italia-UE; e con alcune importanti questioni politiche italiane contemporanee e controversie etiche. Attraverso la partecipazione a seminari e saggi, gli studenti miglioreranno anche le loro capacità di presentazione, analisi e argomentazione. |
| L'italiano per la scena e per lo schermo | 5 | L-FIL-LET/12 | Gli obiettivi del corso sono: sviluppare specifiche competenze di analisi linguistica di fronte ai testi per la scena e per lo schermo; affinare una sensibilità critico-filosofica; delineare una storia della lingua italiana per il cinema, illustrandone tappe salienti e varietà principali. |
| Laboratorio di comunicazione e studi culturali | 5 | SPS/08 | Alla fine di questo laboratorio lo studente sarà in grado di: comprendere il ruolo centrale giocato dalle tecnologie digitali all'interno dei processi comunicative e culturali contemporanei; comprendere e valutare criticamente il nesso esistente tra tecnologie di comunicazione digitale e logiche di consumo; applicare un insieme di teorie sociologiche utili ad analizzare criticamente i processi di comunicazione digitali contemporanei; identificare le principali criticità, opportunità e sfide poste dalle tecnologie di comunicazione digitale; calutare criticamente l'impatto delle tecnologie di comunicazione digitale sulla società e la cultura contemporanea. |
| Letteratura italiana | 5 | L-FIL-LET/10 | Il corso si propone di fornire sia un orientamento di base su contenuti e strumenti generali della disciplina, sia competenze specialistiche su aspetti, momenti e autori esemplari della tradizione letteraria italiana, indagati nei testi e nella bibliografia critica. |
| Lingua italiana con laboratorio | 5 | L-FIL-LET/12 | Il corso costituisce un avviamento alla lettura grammaticale e stilistica del testo. Gli obiettivi sono il riconoscimento delle diverse tipologie testuali nelle loro differenti funzioni e nei tratti linguistici distintivi e la padronanza delle abilità scrittive e comunicative. |

| | | | |
|---|---|--------------|---|
| Linguaggi per la comunicazione pubblica digitale | 5 | L-FIL-LET/12 | Gli obiettivi del corso sono: conoscere i tratti caratterizzanti dell'evoluzione dell'italiano nell'era telematica; saper distinguere e valutare adeguatamente le diverse tipologie di testi della comunicazione in rete; saper comunicare in maniera corretta ed efficace contenuti destinati a uno specifico pubblico. |
| Linguistica computazionale | 5 | L-LIN/01 | L'analisi automatica dei testi è oggi essenziale per scopi di ricerca nelle scienze umane e sociali e per applicazioni di varia natura, dalla traduzione automatica, alla estrazione di opinioni, alla costruzione di agenti conversazionali. Il corso introduce i concetti, le metodologie e gli strumenti fondamentali della linguistica computazionale e del trattamento automatico del linguaggio, fornendo agli studenti competenze per analizzare automaticamente o semi-automaticamente dati testuali di varia natura (letterari, storici, scientifici, socio-politici, giornalistici). Sono inoltre fornite le basi metodologiche dell'annotazione linguistica dei testi per l'apprendimento automatico supervisionato. |
| Machine Learning per le scienze umanistiche e sociali | 5 | ING-INF/05 | Al termine del corso gli studenti saranno in grado di comprendere e discutere i principi dell'apprendimento automatico, in particolare applicato alla ricerca e alle applicazioni nell'area delle Scienze Sociali e Umanistiche, e all'analisi automatica di testi a contenuto letterario, culturale e sociale. Saranno in grado di analizzare un problema e di progettare e implementare una soluzione. Conosceranno le tecniche più importanti nel campo dell'apprendimento automatico supervisionato e non supervisionato e saranno in grado di utilizzarle per costruire sistemi di apprendimento automatico utilizzando il linguaggio di programmazione Python. |
| Metodi digitali per la ricerca sociale e di marketing | 5 | SPS/07 | L'insegnamento fornisce gli strumenti di base per la progettazione di disegni di ricerca sociale che facciano largo uso, seguendo un'ottica integrativa, di tutti gli strumenti tipici dei metodi di ricerca fondati sull'utilizzo di tecnologie digitali. In particolare sarà dedicata una grande attenzione alla progettazione attenta dell'interrogativo cognitivo e della sua trasformazione in scelte tecniche di ricerca sia nel caso di ricerca di base, sia nel caso di ricerche applicate o di mercato. |
| Programmazione | 5 | INF/01 | Scopo del corso è fornire allo studente i primi strumenti elementari, teorici e tecnici, per inquadrare correttamente la relazione fra matematica e la programmazione al calcolatore. Mediante le attività proposte si cercherà di sviluppare negli studenti la capacità di programmare alcuni algoritmi fondamentali (ad esempio, ricerca binaria e algoritmi di ordinamento), utilizzando le strutture dati appropriate (liste, insieme, dizionari). Come linguaggio di programmazione si utilizzerà Python. Nella scelta degli argomenti si cercherà di privilegiare quelli che vengono affrontati dagli studenti più frequentemente nel corso di laurea. |

| Public Diplomacy in the Digital Era | 5 | SPS/06 | Il corso si propone di guidare gli studenti verso la comprensione : 1) del cambiamento che la rivoluzione digitale ha introdotto nel mondo della comunicazione diplomatica; 2) della prospettiva storica nell'evoluzione dell'antica arte diplomatica verso la diplomazia pubblica e la digitalizzazione; 3) di alcuni case study specifici sia storici, sia indicativi del ruolo degli strumenti e delle piattaforme digitali attualmente in uso presso i ministeri degli affari esteri a livello internazionale. Nel loro lavoro di approfondimento gli studenti saranno guidati nella individuazione di approfondimenti relativi al processo di trasformazione degli strumenti diplomatici e delle problematiche poste da questa trasformazione. |
| Sociology of Development | 5 | SPS/09 | L'economia mondiale è cresciuta a un ritmo senza precedenti nell'ultimo mezzo secolo, spinta e sostenuta dalla diffusione e dal rafforzamento di forze socio-economiche come l'imprenditorialità e l'innovazione, la formazione e la mobilità del capitale umano, la scienza e la tecnologia. Il corso si propone di offrire una visione sociologica di questi "motori dello sviluppo" guardando alle istituzioni rilevanti, agli elementi culturali e alle relazioni sociali ad essi associati, fornendo agli studenti riferimenti a differenti approcci teorici ed evidenze empiriche. Al termine del corso gli studenti dovrebbero avere una comprensione generale dello sviluppo economico nel lungo periodo e in tempi recenti e acquisire una conoscenza più specifica di alcuni elementi costitutivi dei "motori dello sviluppo" quali imprenditorialità e innovazione, lavoro e occupazione, tecnologia scientifica. Dovrebbero anche essere in grado di cercare prove empiriche che descrivano questi elementi e di distinguere diversi approcci teorici allo studio dello sviluppo. Infine, gli studenti dovrebbero essere in grado di rilevare aspetti rilevanti legati allo sviluppo economico nel loro contesto sociale immediato (es. città, regione). |

| Cultura Inglesa | 10 | L-LIN/10 | The topic and bibliography of this seminar varies according to the edition/instructor. Example (current edition): 'London: from Great Metropolis to Global City' The seminar concentrates on the evolution of London, from 19th century great metropolis to contemporary global city. The approach will be multidisciplinary, ranging from the historical to the sociological, from urban planning models to symbolic meanings, from economic paradigms to cultural forms, from racial to identitary issues. The course will thus promote a multifaceted research on the centrality of London in the cultural imaginary of the country and on the various ways in which the capital has been understood and represented in British culture. |
| Culturas Contemporâneas | 10 | SPS/08 | Departing from a preliminary reflection about the concept of culture and its multiple implications, the course will discuss a set of relevant notions that allow us to interrogate the concept of culture in a contemporary perspective, such as: language, representation and discourse; subjectivity, identity and difference; nation, multiculturalism, interculturality, globalization; race, ethnicity and post-colonialism; sexual identities and feminisms. This approach will bring into discussion several aspects of the history of culture and handle theoretical instruments that are needed for a contextual understanding of contemporary cultural practices. N.B. The syllabus and bibliography may change depending on teaching staff. |
